Morpeth Rant
Traditional

Arrangement (c) Copyright 2003 by Donald J. Borchelt.
All rights reserved.
While this is one of the more melodic arrangements in the collection, there are still a lot of melody phrases which are obtained from hammers or slides, rather than conventional Keith-style patterns. The trickiest examples come in the B-part, in the bridge between measures 12 and 13, in the middle of measure 13, and at the end of measure 14. The last is a triplet, obtained through a rapid hammer-on and pull-off, executed in rapid succession.

In the second B part, in measure 30 and 31, there is an interesting little downward run which substitutes for the specific melody notes which would normally be played.